THE CHINESE QUESTION.

An Appeal to the Trades and Labor Unions and Bona Fide Labor Organizations of the Pacific Coast.

OFFICE EXECUTIVE BOARD,
D. A. 53, KNIGHTS OF LABOR,
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7, 1885.

FELLOW-CITIZENS:—After repeated efforts on our part to secure the legislation necessary to restrict the further immigration of Chinese to this country and after the experimental results of three years' trial of the so-called Restriction Act, we find, through the machinations of conscienceless officials, pliable courts and rulings of cabinet ministers, that we are still practically in the position we occupied at the beginning.

In addition to the evils engendered by the presence of cheap Chinese labor, we in this State and upon this coast are menaced with the growing wrong of competition with the products of convict labor; by importation, and by the evasion of the provisions of our State Constitution.

The time has come when it becomes the duty of the producers of all wealth to determine what course is the proper one to be adopted to finally settle these disturbing causes of idleness and discontent among our people.

There is enough patriotism, determination and honesty among the people of this coast to settle these matters now and forever. It needs organization to accomplish these results. The exigency requires neither the use of violent language, nor a resort to violent means. Politicians of all parties, and demagogues of every description, have used these subjects to accomplish ulterior ends, and have excited hopes and invited confidence, only to betray and destroy.

These questions are eminently industrial in their application and effect. When the working population of a country is assailed, every other interest is attacked; and when an injury is inflicted upon a single industry all others are bound to suffer in sympathy.

The District Assembly of the Knights of Labor, after repeated consultations with members of kindred associations, invite all trade and labor unions of a bona fide character, all Granges and associations, of industrial producers, to assemble by delegation on Nov. 30th, 1885, at 8 o'clock p. m., in B'nai B'rith Hall, 121 Eddy street, San Francisco, and there determine what remedies are needed to meet our present requirements.

The basis of representation is three delegates for each assembly of Knights of Labor, trade or labor union, Grange or other bona fide labor organization. Unorganized labor, skilled or unskilled, whether male or female, is entitled to one representative for each occupation, provided the delegate be endorsed by at least twelve of his or her fellow-workers. Delegates to District Assembly No. 53, K. of L., are entitled to seats and to enjoy the privileges of membership in the Convention.

Secretaries of organizations and others entitled to do so will send the names of delegates to the Chairman of this Committee, John Payne, Box 259, Station B, San Francisco, on or before Saturday, November 28th.

It is intended that this Convention shall be of a decidedly practical and non-partisan character. Denunciation of individuals, violent remarks or suggestions will not be tolerated, hence it is particularly requested that no organization will send as delegates any politicians, demagogues, cranks or hobbyists, as such persons would undoubtedly create inharmonious and defeat the objects which it is our earnest desire to obtain.

[Signed:] J. PAYNE, Chairman,
S. L. SILVERBERG, Sec'y,
L. LIVINGSTON,
JOSEPH BOWDEN,
P. J. FLOOD,
C. J. RODNER,
L. V. MERLE,
Executive Board.

Senator Walthall, of Mississippi, Mr. Lamar's successor, is canvassing the State to secure his re-election. He is making frank and sensible speeches. He expresses himself against the suspension of silver coinage, argues in favor of national commission to supervise interstate commerce by railroad, and declares the tariff to be a system of divisible taxation to which he is opposed.

Vincent, the New Mexico Judge, was condemned before he was tried. The United States Senate should vindicate him by refusing confirmation to his successor.

Elsewhere will be found a manifesto on the Chinese question. Either the whites or the Chinese must go from this Coast. "The Chinese Must Go."

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

The Salt Lake Herald puts forth the subjoined:

Nebraska's constitution contains a provision that United States Senators from that State may be elected by the popular vote of citizens, as members of the other branch of Congress are chosen. As a successor to Senator Van Wyck is soon to be elected, that gentleman demands that the choice be entrusted to the people, and not to the Legislature. Whether or not he will be successful remains to be seen; he is doing a good deal of talking and has gotten the discussion started, a fair proportion of the State press standing in with him in favor of the new plan.

One of the inconsistencies of our Republican form of government is the national Senate in the matter of its formation. The Senate represents nothing that is Democratic. It is an aristocratic body in its construction and operation, and the people have no voice in the selection of the members. Four out of five of the Senators are rich men; they are Senators, not because they are the choice of the people, but because their money makes them the choice of the Legislatures. Old Sharon sat in the Senate because he bought and paid for the seat which he occupied, not because a single voter in Nevada thought the man was the best one to be found for the place. The same may be said of fully one-half of the "distinguished" gentlemen who compose the upper house of Congress, though the purchase may not have been as openly consummated as in the case of the graceless old lecher whose life is fast ebbing in San Francisco. The Senator does not hold himself accountable to the people, for the people are not his constituents; he does not work for the people, but assumes to be a part of the administration as opposed to the common herd, against which he is fighting. You will find the Representative exerting himself in behalf, not of the central government as against the people, but in the interest of the voters who sent him to Congress to labor in their cause. To illustrate how unrepresentative and unrepresentative the Senate is, the case of New York may be cited. Time after time the popular vote of the State is largely in favor of the Democrats, yet the districting is such that the Legislature contains a Republican majority, and as a consequence Republican Senators are elected, the minority party and sentiment thus representing the entire State in the Senate. The same is true of Connecticut, of New Jersey, and of other States. When the Senators are elected by the people, better and able men will be chosen, and the Senate, instead of being a body of aristocrats or worse, corruptionists, will represent the voting strength of their States, and will hold themselves accountable to the power that made and can unmake them. The plan which Nebraska proposes is the only one consistent with Republican principles, and it is hoped that Senator Van Wyck will be able to defeat the politicians and compel the acceptance of this Democratic idea.

1885 GOSSIP.

The Washingtonians are already speculating upon the Presidential tickets of 1888. "Hendricks and Hill will be the ticket at the Democratic National Convention in 1888," said Senator Evarts, the other evening, while chatting with some friends at Wormley's. "Nobody can guess what the platform will be, but it is sure to be noticeable for the entire absence of a civil service reform plank," added another gentleman who sat near.

"Yes, I think I can name the ticket at the Republican National Convention for three years hence," said a prominent Democrat. "It will be Evarts and Logan, and don't you forget it."

A well-known federal official in the Treasury Department said that Mr. Cleveland would not allow the use of his name again in a Presidential convention. "His plans are even now partially formed for retirement at the close of his term," continued the official. "Don't you see he is not attempting to take advantage of his position to gather about him a strong following in a political sense?"

Is the United States a Republic?

Chicago Telegram.

In one of the public schools of the north side the other day the teacher inquired of the geography class:

"Is the United States a Republic?"

There was a puzzled, dubious, querulous expression on the face of every member of the class, the hesitation in answering the question evincing the prevailing doubt and uncertainty among the youthful political economists.

At last a little urchin at the foot of the class raised his hand:

"I can answer it, Mr. Teacher," he proclaimed.

"Well, then, what is it?"

"Please, sir," continued the child, "the United States used to be a republic before Cleveland was elected, but it is Democratic by a large majority now."

A GRACEFUL ACT.

The Sacramento Record-Union says:

The Central Pacific Railroad Company has done a very graceful thing in the matter of the town site of the town of Forest Hill, Placer county. The section upon which the town stands was returned as non-mineral, and thus the company came into its title of the tract as railroad land. In the town proper there are 350 subdivisions, varying from a lot 25 feet in width to plats of a half, a whole acre, and up to six and seven acres of land. Upon many of these there are houses, some of them pretentious structures and of no inconsiderable value to the possessors. The lands in the town site were held under possessory title by transfer from original possessors. The company might have preferred its claim to all these properties, and there could have been no successful dispute of it. Indeed, the time for contesting it has gone by. It might have said to the people of Forest Hill that, for a small consideration in each case, it would pass its title to them. There had been no town site laid under the Federal laws, and there would have been nothing else for the possessors to do but to buy of the railroad company at its own figures. Even a nominal consideration with transfers from the company to each individual would have entailed no inconsiderable expense—the mere item of notarial fees, where the three Trustees of the company would have to acknowledge the instruments, would have amounted to a large sum in the aggregate, and have compelled the people to take much trouble to prove up at San Francisco their individual rights of possession. But the company did not desire to, put them to any expense in the matter, much less to dispossess them from their holdings. It resolved to give the 350 subdivisions absolutely to the holders, or those entitled to hold. It has, therefore, created a trust in F. D. Adams, a well-known citizen of Placer county, in whom the people have confidence, and is about to make the transfer of all the lots of land to him in trust for the people that he may deed to them, and thus secure to each an undisputed title without any moneyed or valuable consideration passing to it. The trust in Mr. Adams is so limited and hedged about by careful provisions, that he cannot do anything but make the economic transfers by grant, according to the plain intent and meaning of the gift. Where there is any dispute whatever, as to the right of possession of any tract, the parties will have to go into Court and litigate the issue. When the Courts have determined to whom the right of possession belongs, according to the basis of the original holding, the Trustees will deed to whomsoever the Court decrees entitled to the fee in the land, under the gift of the company. In this way all matters of possible issue can be adjusted at home and among the people themselves. This whole proceeding is understood to be in accord with the expressed desires of Governor Stanford, made when the matter first came up for consideration by the company, and is an act of broad equity that the beneficiaries fully appreciate and receive in the same spirit in which it is extended.

Immigration Affairs.

They are getting things in pretty good shape at Castle Garden, New York, the receiving point of foreign immigration. For years it was contended that New York ought not to be compelled to meet the expense of supporting the destitute who were among the newcomers. This has been remedied by Congressional appropriation. The report of the commissioners states that under the Act of August 3, 1881, there was received $140,210, and the expenses of the commission in the same period amounted to $140,032. The commissioners recommend that the act of Congress to regulate immigration be amended so as to provide adequate penalties for all violations of the law.

The movement of immigration for the year ending June 30, 1885, is thus reported by the commission:

There arrived at the port of New York from foreign ports 375,031 passengers, of which number 294,013 came as steerage passengers and were landed at Castle Garden, where they were examined by the commissioners. Most of these were destined to Illinois, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. During the year there were returned to the country whence they came 1,183 emigrants, of whom 51 were insane, 32 were idiots, 2 were blind, 9 were deaf and dumb, 21 were cripples, 78 were women about to become mothers, 478 were disabled by sickness, 77 by reason of old age, and 435 were without visible means of support. During the year 4,655 emigrants were treated at the hospitals in charge of the board. Of these 133 died, 4,233 were discharged cured, and 289 remain in these hospitals.

Time, at Last, Sets All Things Even.

It is a saying that time, at last, sets all things even, and it is true, also, that there are things which time only can even up. Time is evening things up with Abrahams Bros. pretty well, and they are now reaping the reward of honest, square dealing and strict attention to business. Their friends are legion, and they never lose any, for they make it a point to give full value for every cent paid them, and they know and the people know that they are established and permanent. Abrahams Bros. are a business fixture here; they intend to remain so, and are bound to see that the wear of their clothing and guarantees are good and will bear the closest scrutiny. They have such an assortment of dress and business suits, overcoats and underwear, boots, shoes and hats, trunks, rubber goods, furnishing goods, valises, etc., that men who call there are sure of getting just what they want every time, in style of goods, quality, make up and everything else.

Their present stock is the largest and most varied ever exhibited in this town or State. These goods have been ordered especially for this market direct from the largest manufacturing houses in New York and other centers, and will be sold at New York prices. People, therefore, generally go to Abrahams Bros. for what they need and get it, and when it is worn out find that they had full value and does not owe them a cent. And thus time has set all things even, not only with Abrahams Bros., but all their customers.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

For December closes the eighteenth volume of this well-known favorite magazine with a table of contents which is attractive and timely. It is especially rich in portraits, containing the Rev. R. T. Thornton, the English cricketing parson; the late Earl of Shaftsbury; Bishop MacLagan, of Litchfield, England, and a view of the Cathedral; Bishop Wordsworth, the new Bishop of Salisbury, England; the Rev. Moses A. Hopkins, the newly appointed colored Minister to Liberia; the late Bishop Henry C. Lay, of Easton, Md., and the late Cardinal McCloskey, of New York; each with a biographical sketch. The twenty-second of the series of "People" is devoted to "The Pharisee and the Publican," and the Sacred Musicians of this number are Aganz Assmayer, George Perry, John Henry Griesbach, and Johann Van Bree. The interesting series of Glances at Bible History is concluded in this number as is also Mrs. Farmer's story, "What She Made of Her Life." Miss Mathew's "Dilettante Days" goes on in the same charming manner, and "Love's Harvest" shows signs of nearing its end. Among the other articles are: "Old St. Joseph's," of Philadelphia; "The Home and Grave of Anthony Wayne," Gounod's "Morse's Vita," and many bright short articles, stories and poems. Published by Mrs. Frank Leslie, 53, 55, and 57 Park Place, New York City, at 25 cents a number, or $2 50 a year, postpaid.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. (Feb. 21-22-17)

Lapanta Mine

The main incline of the Lapanta mine in Hawthorne District, Esmeralda county, is down 60 feet, and is said to show a vein two feet in width, giving an average assay of $135 per ton. Two hundred feet east shaft, No. 6 is down 30 feet. The ledge at that point is also reported as looking well and averaging $100 per ton.

FASHION NOTES.

Draperies, as well as bodices, show revers.

Algerian or woolen ribbons are growing in favor.

Puffed sleeves are seen on Paris-made dresses.

Flat vests are worn with bodices with jacket fronts.

Brown, olive, bronze and slate are the chief colors in ribbons.

Ribbons with Roman stripes in plush or velvet will be much worn.

Blue brocade combined with bronze velvet is worn by elderly persons.

Small puffs are frequently used instead of the protective foot plaiting.

Brocade velvet and satin, with an admixture of blue steel beads, are novelties.

The demand for American black silk is steadily growing, to the detriment of that of foreign manufacture.

Jackets and bodices of watered silk are worn with lace skirts, and also with those of other materials.

The fronts of black silk dresses, as well as the plastrons, are covered with pendent buttons of jet or silk.

Woolen materials have bands of embroidery which are used for trimming the skirt and for outlining the plaited vest.

Bourette scarfs and sashes, with effects in silken reps, are made in shades corresponding to those of the dress material.

Chudnah serges, with heraldic designs in softly contrasting colors, are novelties, as are serges with astrakhan stripes.

Vests of canvas, with collars and cuffs to correspond, are embroidered with beads and silk and are worn with any bodice.

White woolen dresses will be worn indoors during the Autumn, a touch of color being given by the velvet collar, cuffs and vest.

Sashes for lawn-tennis costumes have balls and racquets woven or printed on them. The handkerchief folded cornerwise and knotted loosely about the throat, which promises to supersede the collar, is also similarly adorned.

The President and His New Civil Service Commission.

The President is evidently disappointed in his new Civil Service Commissioners. The principal reason for changing the old Board was that he believed he could more readily impress upon the new members his own ideas of improvement in the administration of the civil service law. The old Board had practically created a system, and had become accustomed to a certain routine in the performance of their duties, and were thus less liable to adapt themselves to any change so it was decided to get new members, where the balance of power would be of the same political faith as the Administration, and who, it was thought, would readily become imbued with the President's views. The President believes there should be a broader construction to the law than it now obtains, and that other qualities besides that of merely being able to answer correctly a series of questions should be taken into consideration in the matter of selecting persons for appointment. Fitness for the position, capacity for handling men and a technical knowledge of the duties required were as necessary in the Sterling case as high rank in the written examination and hence all the names of those who passed the examination were submitted to the Collector. This should be the course in all cases, and not confine the certification to the four highest on the list. This is the President's idea, and he has so publicly expressed himself, and yet the new Commissioners have taken occasion to say that their action in the Sterling case, so far as relates to certifying the whole list, is not a precedent of what they will do in the future, and hence the President's disappointment that the members have failed to grasp his idea upon the subject of civil service reform.
